STORY OF PLOT TO 'SEIZE' CASSOPOLIS

Man, 20, Had It All Planned

Two Deputies Credited With Stopping Him

By BILL HAMILTON

CASSOPOLIS — A bizarre plot by a young man to take over and terrorize the village of Cassopolis was revealed yesterday by Cass county Sheriff Robert Dool in a press conference called at his office.

Two deputies of his department are to be presented citations tonight by the Southwestern Michigan Law Enforcement Officers' association for the risk they took in apprehending the man.

The case has striking similarities to the massacre at Austin, Tex., when a crazed sniper, Charles Whitman, fired from a university tower and killed 15 people. In Texas the sniper was killed. But the would-be Cassopolis sniper, aged 20, has now been committed to a state hospital at Ionia, according to Cass county Prosecutor Jerry O'Connor. And he didn't get to hurt anyone.

Sheriff Dool said the Cassopolis case began one afternoon about two and a half months ago when Deputy Norman Bannow and Sgt. Milton Simmons were sent to answer a complaint about family trouble. Upon arriving, they found the man in a house, armed with a .22 caliber loaded pistol.

MAN CAPTURED

Because of other people present, the officers were forced to back out of the house while the man had them covered with the gun. When they got outside, they gradually worked to either side of the gunman and jumped him. The man was captured without being able to fire his revolver.

Upon examining the car which the man was trying to reach the deputies found a .22 caliber rifle and an army M-14 rifle, both of which were loaded.

Further questioning of the man and his family revealed he had detailed plans and outlines for the takeover of Cassopolis. The skeptical officers began to check the stories, and the evidence began to turn up to confirm the stories.

MASTER PLAN

In his plan, the man was going to take some hostages, then retreat to the top of the Cass county courthouse tower. From this vantage point, much of the village is in view. With his guns, the man planned to shoot into stores, cars, and buildings with the idea of setting them afire. A special supply of incendiary bullets and armor-piercing slugs were to be used.

With the fire department building directly covered by his line of fire, he anticipated that the equipment could not be used. Any gasoline or fuel oil truck which happened to come to the main corners in Cassopolis would be riddled, with resulting chaos.

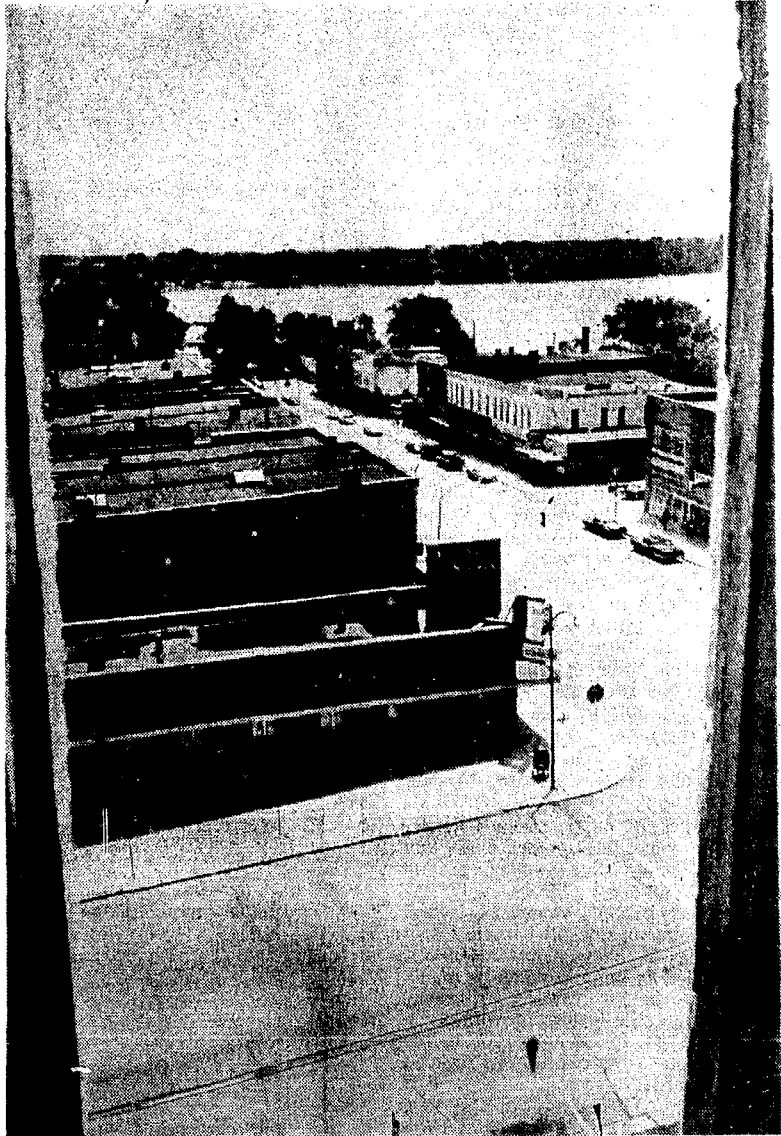

The deputies found the man had hidden about 2,500 rounds of various kinds of ammunition in the tower of the courthouse. In addition, officers found a gas mask, an Army tank periscope, handcuffs, restraining chains, pills for keeping awake and a set of headphones - type ear muffs.

FAMILY AIDS POLICE

The deputies said that just before the man was apprehended, he had told his family about his plans. With their aid, Dool said, the whole plot was bared and the weapons and ammunition confiscated.

Sheriff Dool said the man is 20 years old. Prosecutor O'Connor said the man's wife had started divorce proceedings and that he was making child support payments at the courthouse. It was in this way, O'Connor said, that the man learned of the door to the courthouse tower. The door is right next to the door into the

Surcharge Approval Seen Near

House Voting Today On 10% Tax Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's 10 per cent income tax surcharge appears to have a safe but not overwhelming margin for passage as it comes before the House for a vote after a year of controversy and delay.

The Senate, anticipating House approval today, has scheduled its own vote Friday.

If the anticipated script is followed, everyone in the country who now has federal income tax deducted from his paycheck will find the tax bite 10 per cent bigger in about three weeks.

That means a worker now having $50 per week withheld for income tax would have $55 withheld until next June and possibly longer.

Tied to the increase in taxes is a mandatory $6-billion cut in government spending in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Johnson fought the spending cut as excessive. But he finally agreed to the measure because of what he called the overriding need for more revenues to shrink a deficit estimated at $24 billion to $1 billion dollar inflation and bolster the dollar internationally.

WHAT IT WILL COST

The Senate already has voted for a similar package, but must consider the final version.

For individuals, the effective tax increase this year would be 7.5 per cent of their total tax bill, because for them the surtax is retroactive to April 1. For corporations, it covers the full year 1968.

As the bill is written, the surtax would expire June 30, 1969, but its principal architect, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has already raised the possibility of an extension if the Nation cannot put its financial house in order by then.

Besides the income tax surcharge, the bill continues the excise tax on automobiles at 7 per cent and on telephone service at 10 per cent. Under the old law, they dropped to 2 per cent and 1 per cent respectively. The bill also provides a speedup of corporation tax collections.

REVENUE INCREASE

The combined effect of the changes is estimated at a $15.2 billion revenue increase for the next fiscal year.

Appropriations also are to be cut $10 billion under the budget estimates for the year and actual spending reduced $6 billion. Appropriations and spending do not match in any single year because of the stretchout of spending programs. If Congress does not make the full cuts and apparently it won't the president must hold back expenditures to come up to the figures spelled out in the tax-economy bill, which overrides other legislation.

Finally, the President is directed to make recommendations for trimming an additional $8 billion out of appropriations carried over from previous years. These recommendations are due in January.

The government payroll is to be trimmed back to the mid-1966 level by filling only three out of every four vacancies—a reduction of some 244,000 jobs.

Mackie Denies Fraud In Highway Dept.

By JAMES PHILLIPS
Associated Press Writer
LANSING (AP) — Former state highway commissioner John Mackie today disputed charges by the governor and the attorney general that commission employees committed such crimes as embezzlement, fraud and the acceptance of bribes during his administration and later.

Mackie said Gov. George Romney and Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley were grasping for headlines in alleging that organized crime had gained a foothold in the State Highway Department.

In a petition asking for a grand jury probe of the highway agency, Romney and Kelley said that employees also had permitted overpayments to be made to highway contractors.

INGHAM COUNTY

The crimes reportedly were committed in Ingham County from 1961 to 1967, "and in the years preceding 1961," Mackie was highway commissioner from 1957 to 1964.

Asked about the charges of organized crime, Mackie said in a telephone interview from his office in Warrenton, Pa., "I suppose that's always good for a headline. I suppose that's what is motivating the whole operation. I think it's rather ridiculous that they would be asking for a grand jury in view of the fact that he (Kelley) has investigated the department.

"All of the files have been available to him. He has been studying them for years."

Similar comment came from Howard Hill, who served as highway commission director from 1964 to July 1967.

"I have no knowledge of it (crime), and as far as I know there is no connection between the Mafia and the highway construction industry," he said.

PETITION CHARGES

It was charged in the petition that department employees were believed involved in "criminal conspiracies which can be characterized as the activities of organized crime."

The syndicate gangsters entered into the conspiracies through highway construction contracts, the petition said.

Kelley and Romney would not elaborate.

The Ingham County Circuit court agreed Wednesday to conduct a grand jury probe of the highway commission.

Kelley earlier conducted an investigation of the commission. "As a result of his investigation," Mackie said, "he cleared the department and all the people in it. But if he wants to be

Brother, Sister Both Face Heart Surgery

By JERRY KRIEGER
County-Farm Editor

A brother and sister, former Benton Harbor area residents now of Berrien Springs, are both scheduled to undergo heart operations at the University of Michigan hospital, Ann Arbor, about July 28.

The sister, Retha McCollum, 18, will have open heart surgery but it is not known here if the brother's operation will be by open heart procedure. Her brother, Dale, is 14.

Cost of the surgery will be paid by the Crippled Children's program operated by the Michigan Health department, according to their mother, Mrs. George McCollum. But they will need about 35 pints of blood donated, to replace the amount of blood doctors at Ann Arbor anticipate will be required in the two operations.

BLOOD DONORS NEEDED

Mrs. McCollum said a few relatives have already promised to give blood, but that many more donors are still needed to achieve the goal of 35 pints. Both Retha and Dale have suffered heart impairments for some time and they have been unable to participate in any strenuous activities at school.

Retha formerly attended Benton Harbor high school before the family moved to Berrien Springs last August. Dale is a seventh grader at Berrien Springs junior high school.

According to the mother, Retha has a hole in her heart, and Dale has heart valve trouble. Another son in the family, 22, also has a faulty heart, the mother said, but does not qualify for aid from the Crippled Children's program because he is over 21.

In appealing for volunteer blood donors, the mother said donations will be accepted at either Mercy hospital in Benton Harbor or Memorial hospital in St. Joseph. Any type blood is acceptable. Donations should be put in the name of the George McCollum family.

The McCollum home is at 309 South Main street, Berrien Springs. Previous to moving there, the family lived on Pipestone road near Benton Harbor for about eight years. The father is employed at Chevron Chemical Co., Sodus township.

Crime Control Bill Signed By President

Declaring the bill contains "more good than bad", President Johnson Wednesday night signed the controversial crime control legislation which authorizes wiretapping, limits Supreme Court rulings on confessions and restricts sale of annual salary of $27,000 by the Benton Harbor school district board of education.

PAY GUARANTEE

The Benton Harbor board said it would make up the difference between any lower salary and the $27,000 he would have gotten next year as superintendent. The sum is the salary specified in his three-year contract with Benton Harbor that expires June 30, 1969.

Johnsen and the school board made a joint announcement June 12 that Johnsen was free to seek other employment and the board of education could seek a new superintendent.

Johnsen, 57, became Benton Harbor superintendent in 1962. He was appointed superintendent of the consolidated Benton Harbor district in 1965.

Johnsen, who will fill the new position after July 1, replaces Business Manager Warren Cuplin, who resigned at LMC to become business manager of St. Augsburg college, Minneapolis, Minn., and to work toward his doctorate degree.

OTHER APPOINTMENT

Dr. Lehman also announced the appointment of Allo A. Anderson as director of admissions and registration. The position is new, and the director will be responsible to the dean of students rather than directly to the president.

Anderson replaces Henry Brown, who resigned to become dean of student personnel services at Lincolnland Junior College, Springfield, Ill. Brown was dean of admissions and registrations at LMC and reported directly to the president.

Anderson comes to LMC from St. Mary's college, Maryland, where he served as dean of students. He has also served as administrative assistant in the records and admissions office at St. Mary's.

He has also served as dean of admissions at Lindsay Wilson college in Columbia, Ky., for three years. Anderson has been instructor and assistant professor of biology at Pensacola Junior College, Florida, and Defiance College in Ohio.

At George Peabody college, he received his master's degree in biology in 1954, and has since completed his course work for a doctorate in higher education. He received his bachelor's degree in biology from the University of Dubuque in 1953.

Salary of his new position is $12,250.

Super Ban On Housing Discrimination

The Supreme Court reached back a century into American history on Monday to deliver a solar plexus punch to housing discrimination.

The Court said a racially mixed couple's unsuccessful effort to buy a house in a St. Louis subdivision shall be crowned with success on pain of the subdivider being held in contempt of court if he refuses to close the deal.

The Court invoked an 1866 Congressional enactment which was one of several statutes passed to fill out the 13th and 14th Amendments respectively abolishing slavery and establishing civil rights before the latter term had even been coined.

The century old statute is only one or two sentences long. It says simply that the sale or rental of real estate shall be conducted free from racial discrimination, either by private parties or by public bodies.

The statute attracted no attention nor caused any debate at the time of its consideration by Congress.

Until resurrected by the Court this week it had gathered dust in the law books.

None of the states paid any attention to it and most of them, including Michigan until a few years ago, sustained clauses in deeds and leases limiting the occupancy and quite commonly the ownership of real estate to types of persons designated by

Dams Outmoded?

Dams in the western part of the United States have been of great benefit not only in creating power but in redistributing water from sections of plentiful rainfall to arid lands.

They have also, in many cases, destroyed one of the most fascinating natural phenomenon of the region; the rapid, free flowing rivers traversing rugged gorges and canyons.

Hells Canyon in the rugged state of Idaho is one of the most spectacular gorges in the West. Or was, until about a dozen years ago when the Idaho Power Company constructed three dams to exploit the hydroelectric potential of the Snake River. The Snake, probably second only to the mighty Colorado in its violently beautiful trip, for thousands of years flowed unbridled through Hells Canyon on its way to join the Columbia River.

One free flowing section of the snake still exists in Hells Canyon but that is now threatened by a proposal for still another dam. This project, the High Mountain Sheep Dam, would completely still the wild river by backing water up 50 miles into a placid reservoir.

Sec. of Interior Udall opposes the site favored by the power company in favor of one further upstream which would cause less scenic damage. Either one would still the Snake.

There is more to the natural power of western rivers than the electric energy which can be siphoned from their turbulent waters. The scenic beauty of deep waters cascading through narrowing rocky gorges for miles on end is an experience few witnesses ever forget.

One can imagine a not too distant generation of Americans ripping down the walls of dams which long before had been made obsolete by nuclear energy, in order that they might enjoy one of the most fascinating wonders of nature.

While they are doing it, they will wonder at the callousness of their ancestors who saw nothing more majestic than a thing to be harnessed.

the one signing the deed or lease. The Michigan rule, via court decision, went out the window with New-Con.

The federal authorities never attempted to enforce the old law and if anyone asked Washington to implement it, the record is hazy indeed on that score.

The old statute was so buried that when President Kennedy stirred the first arguments in Congress for some sort of anti-discriminatory housing legislation not even the most ardent civil rights advocate thought to mention it.

It was not until the discussion was renewed last year on LBJ's recommendation for some housing legislation that one lawyer in the Justice Department brought the 1866 law to light through his own prying into the law books.

Presumably the attorney for the St. Louis couple took advantage of this gratuitous research in preparing his case.

The decision goes way beyond the 1968 housing law which Congress finally handed to LBJ. This calls for a gradual deseculation in discrimination.

It also sweeps past the state and local ordinances on housing discrimination which for the most part, exempt privately arranged real estate deals.

As of Monday, anybody is free to apply to the nearest federal district court or possibly, the nearest state circuit court for a citation to bring a balky seller or landlord into line.

Landmark is an overworked adjective as applied to court opinions, but there is no dispute Monday's ruling changes the rule book substantially.

First of all, it reaches deeper into personal conduct than any lawyer or judge would have said a government can do under our system of government. Discretion in doing business with one's own homesite has always been regarded as immutable as "a man's home is his castle" argument against the police prowling the premises for evidence of crime without first obtaining a search warrant.

The Court went on to hint that the 13th Amendment gives Congress the power to strike at all private acts of discrimination.

Ten years ago such an assertion would have been unthinkable, on or off the bench. It is indicative how the courts attune to the temper of the times.

Today's tensions in the Negro community and the distracted viewpoint among whites stand forth clearly in the 7-2 opinion.

Another facet, technical in one sense yet of widespread implication, is the bare fact of the old law's resurrection.

It lays to rest an often asserted though never clearly sustained belief that a long period of not enforcing a statute merely by this passage of time sends it to the legal boneyard.

The Supreme Court is saying once on the books there it remains as fresh as the day it was printed until modified or repealed.

The decision also suggests a different approach to reconciling two or more legislative enactments covering the same subject matters in all particulars.

The normal rule always has been that the later one impliedly cancels the earlier one.

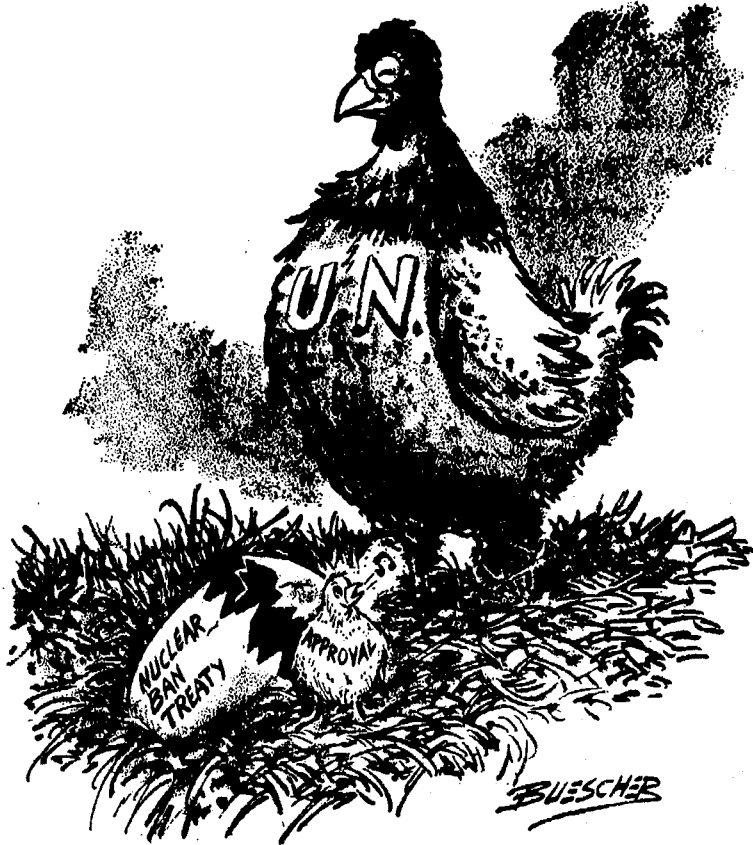

Press reports of the opinion indicate the Court is saying it will accept whichever enactment appears better to cover the waterfront.

The first reaction from some quarters that the decision will flood the courts with housing discrimination cases or turn the real estate trade upside down is overdrawn; and if such a development would arise Congress would be under great pressure to take action.

It takes no crystal ball, however, to predict that real estate dealing will become more circumspect than it has grown in the past five years.

Kingston, Jamaica, is the largest English-speaking city in the Western Hemisphere south of Miami, Florida, the National Geographic says.

Scientists now say only 40 per cent of ants really work. Perhaps some new Santa Claus has risen among them.

SJ. TOWER GETS NAME

St. Joseph housing commissioners ended the "name game" for an urban renewal elderly apartment tower at No. 1 State street, Monday by naming it "Lake View Terrace." Commissioners had been in doubt about what to name the apartment because of a possible conflict with Benton Harbor's apartment project, but the situation was resolved by mulling over more than a half-dozen other names, said C. Thomas Daley, city urban renewal director and executive director of the housing commission.

The new name will be installed on a sign to be mounted within the next few weeks, probably near Main and Port streets, and later on the apartment when it is finished.

NEW PASTOR BEGINS DUTIES

The Rev. Lennart Polson this week began his duties as pastor of the Lincoln Avenue Baptist church. He and his family came here from Nashville, Mich., where he was pastor for two years. He was graduated from Taylor university and has served three churches. He began his official ministry as pastor at the midweek Wednesday evening service and will conduct his first Sunday service as pastor June 22.

The new pastor and his family are now residing in a rented home on Niles road, about three miles southeast of the area served by the Lincoln church. The church is temporarily meeting in the North Lincoln school but is considering plans for a chapel building to be erected this year.

The Italian people want to get out of the war and gain relief from Allied bombings that have hammered pre-invasion warnings home to Italy's industrial centers, informants recently returned from that country said today in Stockholm. Short of food except in high priced black market trading, short of sleep because of Allied air raids, and short of hope because they have lost faith in Mussolini's Fascist regime, the Italians were reported welcoming invasion or a separate peace as putting them out of their current misery.

Rumors among the French civil population in North Africa Saturday that highly-placed Italian envoys were there asking for a separate peace were officially declared without basis by Allied sources. Axis spokesmen had previously denied the rumors.

BELLIGERENT MANKIND

It has been extremely difficult in these passing years to set standards that hold up under the various pressures brought to bear by the freedom which is the heritage of our nation's millions.

The word freedom has one meaning. The word liberty has another. Yet both terms are characterized generally as meaning the same thing.

There is as much difference between these two things as there is between intelligence and intellect or culture. Only the wild creatures are free and have intelligence. Man, has intellect but is totally lacking in intelligence, for the latter means obedience to the laws of God and of Nature. Intellect signifies obedience to a set standard invented, prescribed and legislated by mortal man. Liberty is freedom only under the laws of man. A parolee is at liberty, but he is not free even though at large among his fellows.

Total freedom of mankind is impossible. Natural laws restrain the wild beast, birds, sea creatures, sets the standards which are lifelong but man must be restrained by his fellows, told what to do and what not to do so that his fellow men may enjoy whatever freedom is rightfully his under the law of his own making.

If we are to have laws we must obey them, even though they must not be to our liking. If the majority is to rule, standards must be set by authority and such standards, if proven beneficial, should be recognized and followed.

A great many people condemn and criticize our laws, but make no effort to contact those responsible for their enactment. They blow off steam to their next door neighbor or the nearest gathering place of the few and go home with a chip on their shoulder. The kids hear these condemnations and grow up with them, thus becoming chips off the old block.

"Monkey see, monkey do," "Like father, like son," two more saying as old as Methuselah, point directly to the abuse of freedom and it is this abuse that puts America in the spot in which she finds herself in this dwindling 20th Century.

God put man on this earth to govern and subdue it, but man so far has messed things up so badly that even the Grand Canyon has lost its wild beauty.

His great failure is his inability to govern himself; to control his own emotions; to separate the good and the evil, by reason, not by intellectual or cultural measurements, so war and crime march on to the music of indifference and personal animosity, hatred, bigotry and selfishness. The big ME is foremost in man's existence.

God is not dead. It is only the man who wants to replace God who thinks in such terms. God is much alive. We are experiencing this truth more and more as time goes on.

We are not finished yet. We may see the truth and be convinced He is alive at any time. This old earth could drop into the sun without loss of time. One big puff and then oblivion.

If we are right, fight for it. If we are not sure, then compromise, and, if we are wrong, admit it.

No matter how intelligent a man may think he is, he is more stupid than he believes himself to be.

BORN TODAY

Jacques Offenbach, the French composer of opera bouffe, was born at Cologne, of German Jewish parents in 1819.

When he was 14 years old, he was sent to Paris to study the violin and the cello at the conservatoire. As a member of the orchestra of the Opera Comique, he rose through the ranks to become conductor at the Theatre Francaise.

His first complete work was "Petite" (Opera Comique, 1853) and it was followed by a crowd of light dramatic pieces of a light character. These pieces caused a complete revolution in the popular musical taste of that period.

Offenbach leased the Theatre Comte in the Passage Choiseul, reopened it in 1855 under the title of Bouffes Parisiens and produced a succession of brilliant, humorous trifles.

.. And Speaking Of Your Health

Both my father and mother had glaucoma of the eyes. Fortunately, they were able to retain their sight. Nevertheless, I must confess I am terribly worried and although I am only 27 years old, I live in dread of having the same thing.

What are the early signs of glaucoma, so that I can recognize the condition early if it does happen?

Mrs. D.R., California
Dear Mrs. R.: There are two aspects of your letter that are exceedingly important. The first is that there truly is no reason why you should spend a happy period of your life anticipating a condition that may never occur. There are, however, indications of a hereditary factor involved in glaucoma. The chances that you, too, will be afflicted with this, are slight.

The other aspect of your letter is a subject I try to avoid. Early signs of glaucoma are so frequently confused with similar symptoms that they serve only to terrify readers, rather than bring them any sense of comfort. If I were able to say that a vague headache, or blurry vision, might be important, can you imagine the number of readers who would be unnecessarily terrified? Symptoms are only important when they are thoroughly interpreted by the doctor during an eye examination.

Blindness from glaucoma is needless and almost always the result of neglecting to have a simple examination that measures the pressure of the fluid within the eyeball. This rapid, painless test for glaucoma is done with a tonometer and within a few seconds can give you the comfort you seek. Every eye examination must include tonometry. Modern drugs and simple surgery now preserve the sight of almost all people with glaucoma when the condition is recognized early and given the advantage of early treatment.

I have just been referred by my doctor to a psychiatrist for an emotional problem that has been bothering me for some time. Can you tell me how a psychiatrist differs from a psychologist? Do they treat different conditions?

Mrs. U.S.Y., Indiana
Dear Mrs. Y.: Accepting your doctor's advice to see a psychiatrist is the first giant step towards your recovery from the problem that distresses you. Physicians find that patients sometimes resent the suggestions that they might need psychological help. These same patients would not resent being referred to any other type of specialist. This is an age of liberation from the shackles of shame, when there is a need for help in solving an emotional problem.

A psychologist is a physician with a degree of M.D. who specializes in the study and treatment of all kinds of mental disorders. Many psychiatrists are, in addition, psychoanalysts. A psychoanalyst is also a doctor with an M.D. degree who specializes entirely in the analytical aspects of the origin and interpretation of emotional disturbances. A psychoanalyst is less likely to deal with the same problems that are to the attention of the psychiatrist.

A psychologist is a highly trained person who has attained the degree of Ph.D., specializing in testing techniques and in psychoanalysis. Within these three categories lies the greatest safety for responsible handling of emotional problems. Your own doctor's judgment is an excellent one to insure the expertise of the doctor you visit.

Opening lead — six of diamonds.

Players who enjoy imaginative bidding will get a big kick out of this hand which features an extraordinary use of the grand slam force convention. Usually the grand slam force is used only for the purpose of determining the high card strength of the trump suit, but it is sometimes possible also to investigate the combined resources in a side suit.

There is some question about North's proper response to the opening diamond bid, and good players would differ over the best theoretical response. But while the two club bid actually selected by him was undoubtedly misleading as to both his length and strength in the suit, it was probably as good as any other bid he might have made.

South identified a better-than-minimum opening by making a reverse bid of two spades, and North continued the investigative process by bidding three hearts, hoping that South would now clarify the direction in which he was heading.

The four club bid was just what North was hoping for. By this time a small slam (in diamonds) was certain, and the only problem was whether or not there was a grand slam in the cards. Since this appeared to depend on South's club holding North jumped to five no-trump, commanding South to bid seven clubs with two of the three top honors in clubs.

South obeyed by bidding seven clubs and North at last revealed his fine diamond support by converting to seven diamonds, the suit he had intended from the beginning to be trump.

There was nothing much to the play; all that declarer had to do was ruff two spades in dummy to bring home the grand slam. The bidding by North was ingenious from start to finish, and he was exceptionally well rewarded for his unusual use of the grand slam force.

Latest news from the hot-dog industry is that the vendor who for many years sold his wienies mit sauerkraut alongside the docks in the Hudson River has now wheeled his parasol-topped wagon to new fields in the garment district. His reason for the shift: "Those darn long-horned men eat too much mustard." Why, he was asked, should longshoremen want more mustard on their hot dogs than any other class of workers? "Maybe," guessed the vendor, "they think it's caviar."

One of the prime requisites for success in the highly specialized and exacting field of professional football coaching is a shakable self-confidence. Vince Lombardi, of Green Bay Packer fame, has more than anybody else — and that's just one of the reasons he's the best in the business. Asked how he had been lucky enough to discover so many great assistants (four of them now are head coaches on their own), Lombardi quietly pointed out, "They were all out of work when I hired them!"

The airline stewardess told a stubborn German tourist, "I'm afraid you've boarded the wrong plane. Your ticket is for Milwaukee — but we're bound for Bermuda." "Gott in himmel," groaned the tourist. "Don't tell me! Tell der pilot!"

Diplomas Go To 298 At LMC

Largest Class
In History Hears
Senator Zollar

By ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

The largest graduating class in the history of Lake Michigan college heard Senator Charles O. Zollar last night explain the important role graduates can play in helping to make the world a better place to live.

For the 298 LMC graduates, the college's 21st commencement exercises held at Filstrup field, was a culmination of one and two years study.

The delayed graduation held 12 days later than had been planned originally, as a result of a faculty strike last fall that held up the opening of classes by five weeks.

Associates degrees were awarded to 219 of the graduates who completed two-year courses, and 79 students received special training certificates for one-year programs.

Speaking to the graduates on the subject of "Learning to Know," Senator Zollar said, "You here at LMC have been given a wonderful opportunity to dedicate your lives to seeing, through learning and living together, that our nation and other nations of the world move together speedily to the day when all hatred vanishes, leaving true love of fellow man."

"The unfortunate mistake that many young people make, however, is that they feel graduation from college means they can stop learning. They get their diploma and say to themselves, 'Now I am educated'—and they shut off their learning processes."

"In the last few years we have had a serious breakdown in our country, and in other nations as well, of respect for the law and order," Zollar continued. "Some of these protest movements represent laudable causes and often accomplish the desired results. Others unfortunately, are ill-conceived and often launched by nefarious groups which use unthinking human sheep for their destructive ends."

"It is an unhappy situation that many college campuses are the breeding grounds for much of the strife being fomented in this country by forces determined to undermine our democratic way of life."

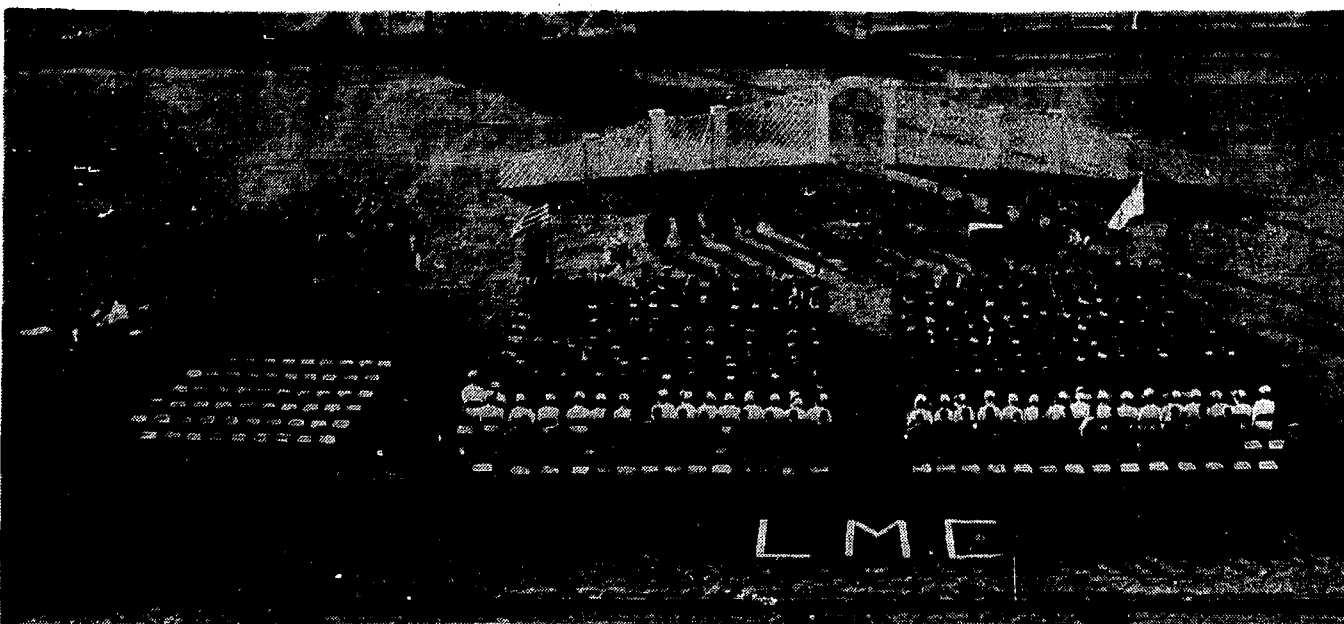

Zollar called on the young people who may encounter many of these forces as they continue their education or life work. " . . . to be careful before blindly following some loud-mouthed leader, because your record will follow you all through your adult life."

Speaking of the racial tensions of the nation, Zollar said, "Our nation has assimilated people from all over the world within the widest imaginable differences. There is much to be done but we can do it, if we maintain high standards of understanding, good will and honest purpose."

"Because of the delicate nature of the problem in some areas, morally responsible citizens and officials of every race and creed must move with equal vigor toward rooting out social injustice and, at the same time, uphold law and respect for law."

A total of 35 students graduated with honors.

High honors went to; Ilse Erickson, Mary Lou Ewalt,

Union Memorial Will Break Ground Sunday

New $101,000 Church

By GLADYS BAILEY
Church Editor

Union Memorial African Methodist Episcopal church (the AME) will break ground for the first unit of its more than $101,000 church on Sunday, June 23, at 5 p.m.

The ceremonies will be held at the site on the Southeast corner of East Empire and South Crystal avenues.

The Rev. C. Wesley Gordon said the initial unit will be used as a sanctuary for worship and also as a hall for church and community events until such time as the church proper and the educational unit can be built.

He indicated that the first unit will be named after the late Atty. Willard J. Banyon of Benton Harbor, who, in 1929, helped the Rev. George W. Baber, then pastor, raise funds for building the present church, Colfax avenue and Bond street.

By his effort Atty. Banyon raised $30,000 toward the building fund.

BISHOP TO ATTEND

The Rev. Baber currently is one of the bishops of the AME Church with offices in Washington, D.C. He was father-in-law of the late Henry Wims, an AME member, who rose from an ex-slave to become a highly respected leader in the city's religious and business life.

Clergymen reveal that Wims built the first AME church in Benton Harbor. This was the city's first church for colored people. It was located on Eighth street, its location until the present church was built. Wims actually did much of the interior building of the first church. He also was the church's founder.

URBAN RENEWAL AREA
The present church location is in the Urban Renewal area and will be sold to Urban Renewal soon.

According to the Rev. Gordon, the ground-breaking rites "will be an attempt to trace the historical background of the African Methodist Episcopal church to Judaism and the early Christian church."

Acknowledgement of the church's heritage, he said, is shown by the invitation to the following to take part in the ceremonies: Rabbi Joseph Schwarz of Temple Beth-El, invocation; the Rt. Rev. Joseph R. Byrne of St. John's Catholic church, the Old Testament lesson; the Rev. Frans A. Victorson, pastor of Saron Lutheran church, St. Joseph, the New Testament Lesson;

The Rev. R. Craig Bell, vicar of St. Augustine's Episcopal church, Benton Harbor, the prayer; the Rev. George Hartmann of the Benton Harbor United Methodist Peace Temple, the closing response.

OTHERS ATTENDING
The Rev. James A. Aiken, presiding elder of the Michigan Annual Conference of the AME church, will lead in the response for the actual breaking of the ground.

Master of ceremonies will be Joseph A. Shurn.

Others expected to be present to represent various aspects of church and community life are: Elisha Gray, II, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, Whirlpool Corporation; Juel Ranum, executive director of Corporate and Public Affairs, Whirlpool Corporation; Benton township druggist and supervisor, Ray Wilder, A.J. Hossein, Inter-City Bank vice president; Architect Wayne Hatfield; Bert Pearson of the Pearson Construction Co.; the Rev. W.E. Ellis, pastor of Pilgrim Rest Baptist church; and the Rev. T.N. Wilkins, Friendship Baptist pastor.

Representing the AME church and doing the actual ground breaking will be: Mrs. Metta

Hayes, oldest member; Oscar M. Mitchell, senior officer; Mrs. Alfred Williams, senior steward board chairman; Charles Gary, assistant Sunday school superintendent; Miss Renee Thompson and Michael Hayes, girl and boy of the month; the Rev. Michael Williams, assistant pastor; the Rev. Thomas D. Elmore, associate pastor; Don P. Mitchell, building committee chairman; and a representative of the junorette choir, as yet unnamed.

Also participating will be a neighbor of the church, the Rev. Ellis Hull, associate Pilgrim Rest Baptist pastor and a community builder.

L.J. Joseph will sing.

Urban Renewal
Rents Building

The Elks club located at 209 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, will remain at its present location for another three months, according to Jack Mucia, exalted ruler.

The club building did not close June 15 as announced earlier, he said. Urban renewal, which has purchased the property, will not need it until September and the Elks will pay $400 rent a month until Sept. 18.

June 15 marked the end of the 60-day rent free period urban renewal gives for vacating of buildings it has purchased.

The club's new golf course, meanwhile, will open June 29 without a proposed new clubhouse. The clubhouse and golf course will be located on Kerlikowske road in Hagar township.

Jerry Alberts, chairman of the Elks' building committee, said a building contract for the new club headquarters was to have been signed this week, but has been postponed to get clarification on one of three bids received.

Alberts said he expected the building to be completed five or six months after the contract has been signed. If not completed by Sept. 18, the Elks may have to rent elsewhere, he said.

Three New Locations Announced

Branch Offices
Approved By Commerce Dept.

Expansion of the Benton Harbor based Peoples Savings Association into three widely-separated places in Michigan was announced today by Merle P. Durren.

He said the Savings and Loan Division of the Michigan department of commerce has approved three branch offices for the firm at Grand Haven, Roosevelt Park and Muskegon.

In making this announcement, Durren noted that none of these rapidly growing cities have had the services of a savings and loan association. "This will permit the Benton Harbor based organization to help provide thrift and home ownership in these areas," he said.

"Peoples Savings was founded in 1924 to help establish the principles of thrift and home ownership in the Benton Harbor area and has since expanded and grown to $53,000,000 in assets and is currently helping over 20,000 savers and 5,000 homeowners to secure their goals with over $1,000,000.00 in dividends being paid to the savings members in the six month period ending June 30, 1968," Durren said.

In addition to these new offices, Peoples' currently has offices in Benton Harbor, Fairplain, Watervliet and Stevensville, all members of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Company - Federal Home Loan Bank.

Behind the men and women who guide and direct the affairs of Peoples Savings Association lies a 43 year history of growth and success.

In a small office at 155 Colfax, Benton Harbor, Peoples Savings Association started business in September, 1924. Six months later, assets were $96,662.24. By October, 1925 they had reached $161,591.74. In the years that followed the total resources have grown steadily.

Even in the depression years, membership increased — 1930 showed 226 members over the previous year; 414 more were added in 1931. At the same time, throughout this period Peoples Savings earned and paid semi-annual dividends and had money and earnings left.

As time went on, the need for larger facilities became apparent. After the first year, the offices were moved to the Fidelity Building. In 1930, a new location was established at 173 Michigan street. Then, just five years later, the firm located at the corner of West Main and Water streets.

"In 1937, under new management, and in keeping with our purpose of assisting homeowners, a building at 165 Pipestone street was purchased. The facade was completely remodeled into the architecture of a home — conveying the idea of Peoples Savings as a home financing headquarters," said Durren. "This location became a familiar landmark in the community, and as a result, our membership and assets grew. In fact, the unique home-of-your-own design of their Pipestone building received national recognition."

Nineteen years later, in December 1956, the association moved to its present location at West Main and Colfax. Meanwhile, to provide additional services to more people, the Fairplain office was established in 1951; the Watervliet office in 1956; the Lakeshore office in Stevensville in 1965 and in 1968 the Grand Haven, Roosevelt Park and North Muskegon offices will be opened.

"The original stockholders founded Peoples Savings 43 years ago with the idea of encouraging thrift and home ownership. Today, the financial well-being of Peoples Savings and its members clearly proves the basic value of this purpose," Durren said.

St. Joseph firemen were called to a car fire at 11:08 a.m. yesterday at the corner of Madison and Lakeview avenues, St. Joseph, but the fire was out on arrival. Firemen reported gas spilled out of the carburetor and flamed up when it hit the hot engine. The car was owned by Stanley Jance, 523 Madison, St. Joseph.

NEW COLLEGE

West said the John Logan Junior College has just been established to serve three southern Illinois counties. The campus site still has not been designated. He said he feels that his new post under President Ivey presents a "new and challenging opportunity in technical education."

West, who resides at 846 Broadway, has been Second Ward commissioner for five years. He and his wife have three children, two in college, and one at home. He holds a master's degree in education, and has 16 additional credit hours in school administration.

West said that he will turn in his city commission resignation Monday to take effect Tuesday so he can attend a market board session on that day. He reports to his new college post July 1.

West's term on the commission expires in April, 1969. The remainder of the nine-member commission can, by a majority vote, fill the vacancy via appointment.

HEALTH DIRECTOR ISSUES RABIES WARNING

RADIOSONDE RECOVERED: Chris Heidinger, 14, of New Troy, holds parachute to which a radio-sonde was attached. The radio-sonde, a U.S. Weather Bureau instrument, was recovered from a maple tree at Chris's home and sent back to Peoria, Ill., from where it was originally sent out. (Esther Klupp photo)

FOUND BY YOUTH

Weather Device Lands
In Tree At New Troy

NEW TROY—A 14-year-old New Troy youth recently recovered a radio-sonde, a weather bureau instrument, in a maple tree near his home.

Chris Heidinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Heidinger, California road, New Troy, found that literature accompanied the instrument to explain what it is.

It was sent out by the United States Weather Bureau from Peoria, Ill., and carried aloft by a large balloon filled with helium gas. When it reached an altitude of 90,000 feet, the balloon burst.

A small parachute then opened and the radio-sonde descended slowly to earth to avoid any damage to the delicate instrument. The box attached to the parachute contained instruments to measure temperature, atmospheric pressure and humidity, at various levels as it rose. The information was relayed to the ground stations by a radio transmitter. The key to the program was sounding by radio, which accounts for its name, radio-sonde.

The literature emphasized that knowledge of what is taking place aloft is vital in forecasting weather. Upper air observations are of value to pilots who fly at all altitudes and must know what is happening and what will happen along their routes.

The New Troy youth returned the box to Peoria. Approximately 25 per cent of the radio-sondes sent up are returned. Many come down in water or in uninhabited areas of the globe.

Paw Paw
Attorney
Will RunCandidate For District Court

PAW PAW — Lewis R. Williams, Jr., a Paw Paw attorney, has announced his candidacy for the office of district judge for the newly created district court for Van Buren county.

There will be two such judges elected for the county on the non-partisan ballot at the general election in November. Prosecutor Donald Goodwillie has also announced that he will be a candidate for one of the posts.

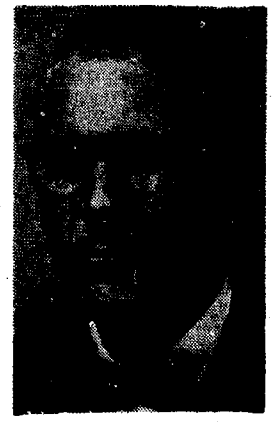

The new district court will replace the present justice courts, circuit court commissioners, and the South Haven municipal court.

In making his announcement Williams said, "I feel that fair and efficient administration of justice at this grass-roots level is essential to building confidence in, and respect for, our judicial system. I pledge myself to work toward this goal."

Williams is 43 years old, having been born in Paw Paw in 1925. He is the son of Mrs. Hazel Giddings Williams and the late Atty. Lewis R. Williams. He graduated from Paw Paw high school, the University of Michigan with a B.A. degree, and received a juris doctor degree from the U. of M. in 1951.

He served in France and Germany with an armored division in World War II. He is married, and the father of seven children.

Williams is a member of the Van Buren county bar association, the American Legion, the First Presbyterian church of Paw Paw, the Paw Paw Volunteer Fire department, and the Masonic Lodge. He is active in

First Day Of Summer
Meets 'Cool' Reception

ANN ARBOR — On the first day of summer, tomorrow, more sunlight will stream toward us than on any other day of the year, but because of "seasonal lag," it may not even be a warm day.

University of Michigan astronomy Prof. Hazel Losh explains that Michigan's summer will begin officially at 4:13 Friday morning, the time of the summer solstice. At this time the sun will reach its most northerly point and its most direct position over the northern hemisphere, 23½ degrees above the equator.

"On that day the north will receive the most heat in any 24-hour period of the year, 15 hours of daylight, but the peak of the warm season usually comes from four to six weeks

Petition Drive Is
LaggingSt. Joseph Man
Seeks Vote On State Income Tax

The drive to place the state income tax on the ballot in the November election appears to be lagging. And Montgomery Shepard of the South Taxation Association of Michigan today urged persons holding petitions to return them within a week.

Shepard, owner of the Berrien County Abstract Co. in St. Joseph and a prominent Berrien County Republican leader, said, "Petitions being circulated by the association and other organizations to permit people to vote on the state income tax have been coming in steadily, but that if the goal of the association is to be reached, the pace must be stepped up."

He said that reports from all over the state indicated that the response had been good, but that many of these signed petitions are still in the hands of the circulators. The deadline is Monday, July 8, for filing and unless they are turned in soon, he said, there might not be sufficient signatures at filing deadline to qualify the proposal for the November ballot.

The association is striving for 250,000 signatures to put the proposal on the ballot. Shepard said about a week ago about 51 per cent of the total had been turned in, leaving 49 per cent to go. He said other organizations in the eastern part of the state are also collecting the signatures, but that the newspaper strike in the Detroit area has hurt the drive.

STATEWIDE

Shepard said the drive is statewide with petitions having already been turned in from 71 of the 83 counties in Michigan. He said 40,000 petitions were put into circulation with room for 800,000 names.

The association urges those who have petitions to send them within the next week, whether or not they are completely filled.

Shepard said, "We object to the theory of some of the state's politicians that the people of the state are not qualified to vote on this matter, but they will miss a chance to vote unless we have enough signatures on petitions in our hands before July 8."

Fighting
Ouster As
PostmasterO'Donnohue Files
Civil Service Plea

HARBERT — The Chicago regional office of the Federal Civil Service Commission revealed yesterday that it has been asked by fired Harbert Postmaster David O'Donnohue Jr. to act on his case.

A Chicago region Commission appeals examiner Leeland Walton said yesterday the commission could overrule the Post Office Department in the firing if it saw fit to do so.

O'Donnohue was removed from office by the post office as of March 1, with no reason made public for the dismissal. A recent appeal hearing with the post office reaffirmed the firing.

Walton said O'Donnohue wrote a letter to the Post Office Department in Washington, D.C., asking that the federal Civil Service commission then review his case. No mention was made of another appeal hearing, Walton said.

His office can pass judgment on the matter by reviewing the record alone or it can hold a hearing with O'Donnohue, Walton explained.

Walton also said the commission decision on the case will not be made public as is commission policy. This will be up to O'Donnohue, he said.

Mrs. Anthony Maranto was recently appointed acting postmaster in Harbert.

Fennville Board Calls
For Two-Mill Tax Hike

FENNVILLE — The Fennville board of education says it will probably be necessary to place a two-mill tax levy on the ballot as soon as a date for a vote can be arranged.

In a special, closed meeting Monday night, the board with Atty. Fred McDonald discussed increased costs and teacher contracts. The board expressed the opinion that proposals now being considered should be offered and that some additional millage would be required. The board also discussed the question of balancing finances by cutting some programs.

The board stated that it would probably place two mills on the ballot as soon as a date for a vote could be arranged and that the problem be explained fully to school district citizens.

The question of eliminating some athletic activities was discussed along with elimination or cutting of other programs. The board Monday night also discussed with the Superintendent Henry Martin and school principals the school policies and programs.

This special meeting was called after district residents raised questions regarding current policies at the last regular meeting of the board on June 10.

High school principal Fred

Richardson told the board the program was somewhat experimental, that good citizenship was expected and that an effort was being made to increase responsibility on the part of the student.

STUDENT DRIVING

One of the citizen's complaints last week concerned student driving during noon hours. The board did ask that student driving be somewhat restricted.

Junior high principal Floyd Merrill reported some discipline problems in the junior high arose when three teachers became ill and substitutes were brought in to take over the classes. He also said he felt the complete scheduling of classes without study halls was working successfully.

Elementary principal Lloyd Miles said he felt there were no unusual discipline problems in the elementary grades, but that the major problems were on school buses. He also said the elementary staff and parents are supporting the ungraded program, which he said, is hampered only by the lack of additional classrooms.

The board pointed out the need for closer school bus supervision. It was suggested that guidelines for behavior on the buses be set up.

'Don't Pick
Up Stray
Animals'Tells Steps
To Take If
Child Is Bitten

By ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

Berrien county has not had a case of rabies in the past nine years, but the public still cannot afford to relax its vigilance, according to Dr. Loecey, director of the associated health departments of Berrien, Van Buren and Cass counties.

In a statement on protective steps against the disease, he noted that with school children now on vacation the hazard of wild animal bites will be greatly increased. He said a reservoir of rabies virus remains in such wild animals as foxes, bats and skunks.

OFFERS ADVICE

In his statement, Dr. Loecey offered the following advice:

Parents should caution their children not to pick up any stray, or wild animal. Wild animals in a healthy state will normally avoid humans. It is usually when they are ill that they can be approached and handled. A sick or injured animal is dangerous to handle.

Parents should also caution their children not to annoy an animal of pet, for the only defense an animal has is to bite. Because of the fear of rabies, a bite means that lengthy and often costly protective measures must be undertaken.

If a child is bitten by an animal, the wound should be thoroughly washed with soap and water, followed by an application of a good antiseptic. All bites present the danger of infection. After cleansing the wound, the following steps should be taken:

1. Report the bite to the health department.

2. See your doctor for his advice.

3. If possible, keep the animal under observation for a period of 10 days to see if any symptoms develop.

4. If the animal dies or is found dead, refrigerate it as soon as possible. The health department will advise as to whether or not the animal should be examined by the Michigan Department of Health. Refrigeration is important to keep the animal brain from decomposing.

5. Should it be necessary to send the animal to the laboratory, the animal should be taken to a veterinarian who will make the necessary preparation to have this done.

Police officers, dog wardens and citizens should not shoot or kill any animal after it bites a human. These animals should be kept under observation, for if rabies is present their being under observation would give the symptoms a chance to develop.

Jury Trial
Ends With Guilty Plea

A jury trial before a visiting judge in Berrien circuit court was called off Wednesday when Western W. Henderson, 27, of Three Oaks, pleaded guilty to one of two check charges against him.

Judge Richard Robinson of Hastings, who traded places with Berrien Judge Chester J. Byrns, took Henderson's plea to a charge that he passed a $75 bad check in St. Joseph on Feb. 7.

Henderson also stood mute and received an innocent plea from the judge to a related charge, forging a check. He was continued free on bond until sentencing.

Accused Of Stealing Four Cars

Eau Claire Youth Arrested In BH

A 17-year-old Eau Claire youth was arrested in Benton Harbor yesterday after allegedly stealing four autos from different parts of Berrien county within 12 hours.

The youth, Arnold Ray Blocker, Jr., 17, of Route 2, Eau Claire, was arrested about 11 a.m. on a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile.

Police said Blocker admitted taking three of the autos. One car was taken from a parking lot on Milton street, in Benton Township. Later the car, a 1960 Dodge belonging to Larry Satterwhite, of 1335 East Britain, Benton township, was found in Niles.

A second car, a 1960 Corvair, was stolen in Niles, and discovered near the post office in Benton Harbor.

The owner of a third auto, Rodney Butts, of 1472 Downing avenue, Benton Harbor, said he spotted a youth trying to steal his car from the parking lot behind the post office. Butts called police.

Blocker was apprehended on Hull street, between Main street and Territorial road, police said.

The fourth vehicle, a panel truck stolen from Watervliet, was found near the parking lot where the Dodge was stolen.

Poor People Barge Into Plush Hotel

WASHINGTON (AP)—After a hard day of marching, some members of the Poor People's Campaign dropped into the plush Statler Hilton Hotel for dinner Wednesday night wearing denim overalls and mud-caked boots.

After a brief disagreement over whether they were properly attired, the group had a few drinks, a meal and then a management spokesman said, departed with two-thirds of the checks unpaid.

The hotel spokesman added, however, that some of the group signed bar checks, saying they would be taken care of by the campaign.
